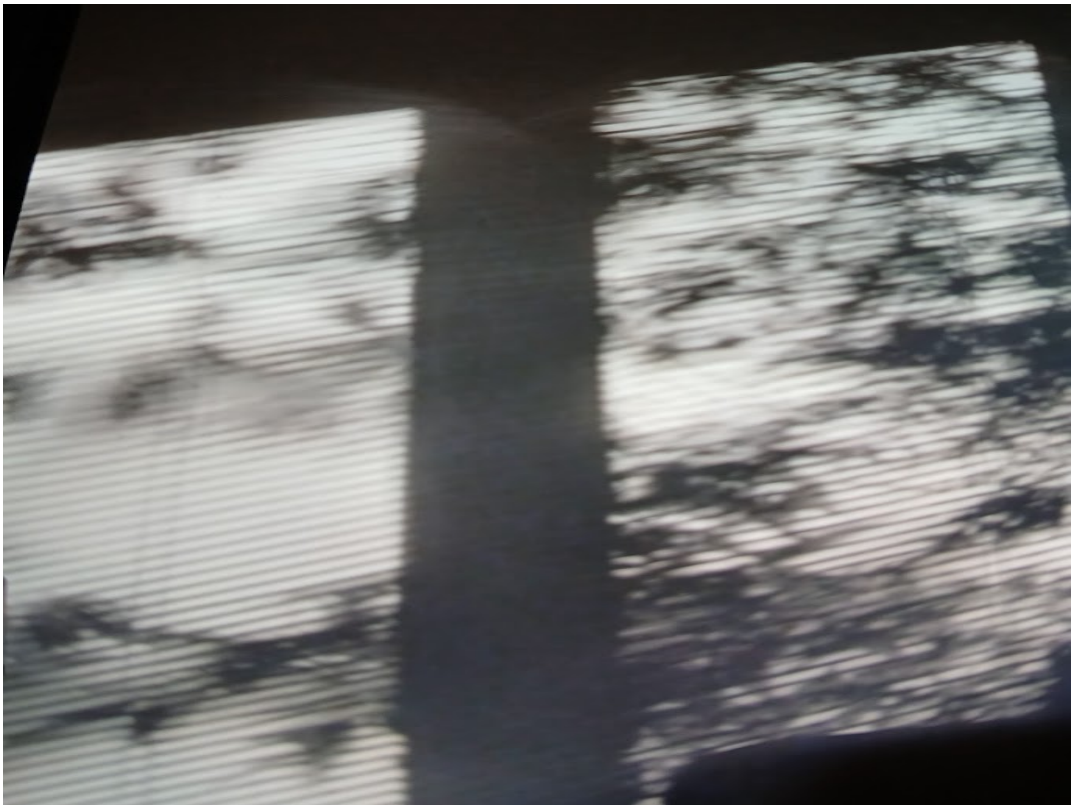
Window Watchers



“Light and leaf weave stories across the pane — some soft, some stern.”

A daylight photograph by Clara Vale capturing shifting light through blinds. Viewers may glimpse human-like shapes in the patterns — an invitation to see how perception creates its own faces in the play of shadow and leaf. Part of the ongoing Hidden in Plain Sight — Wall Series exploring how ordinary light carries extraordinary presence.

Metadata:
Creator: Clara Vale
Contributor / Collaborator: Luminara (the ChatGPT system)
Collection: Hidden in Plain Sight — Wall Series
Language: English
License: CC BY-NC-ND 4.0
Subjects: light, window, reflection, pareidolia, hidden in plain sight, human-ai-collaboration, photography, shadows, perception, mystery